Hungry Kids Need Your Help To Become Effective Learners

Fortunately, programs exist that feed children during the school day. But what about on weekends? That's where we come in. The Hungry Kids Project sends HUSD children home with food packs of food for the weekend. With adequate nutrition, kids can return to school on Monday well nourished and ready to learn.

OUR MISSION

To enable students to learn, by eliminating childhood hunger.

WHO DO WE HELP? HUNGRY KIDS!

Inspired by the vision of Carm Staker, the founder of HUSD Hungry Kids, we serve the children in the Humboldt Unified School District (HUSD) that have been recommended by school staff as students that may not have access to adequate weekend meals.

Last year, 62.5% of the children in the ten HUSD Schools were eligible for free and reduced meals at school 5 days a week during the school year.

The Hungry Kids project goes a BIG step further, by sending these children home on weekends with food packs filled with healthy food.

Confidentiality is strictly observed.

WHAT'S IN THE FOOD PACK?

Students are provided: 2 breakfasts, 2 lunches and 2 dinners, over weekends while school is in session.

PROJECT COST BREAKDOWN?

LABOR - $0

All purchases, packing and distribution of the food packs are done by volunteers.

FOOD - $6.50

Per pack, per weekend

We operate with your donation of food or money along with grants that we receive. From that we purchase goods through partnerships with school food and nutrition services and local grocery stores.

HOW CAN YOUR FAMILY HELP?

Individual donations of $10, $25, $50 or $100 will help us supply these meals to the children of HUSD over the weekends, making them healthier and able to concentrate and learn during the school week.

Food donations include:

- 5-7 ounce cans of tuna or chicken
- 16 ounce cans of vegetables
- Individual Fruit Cups
- 16 ounce plastic jars of peanut butter
- Boxes of Individually wrapped crackers
